

The Little Known Facts

BAND STORY

"The Little Known Facts started as a project between Trevor Howlett and Brendan Rutherford, two students at the University of King's College who decided to start a band. Adam Lapierre joined a month or two later, and that core stayed in tact for several months (including a hiatus in the summer of 2007). The band had its share of members coming and going, and eventually settled on its current lineup in November 2007 with the addition of Corey MacNeil on the lead guitar. Since then, the band has written an albums worth of material, delivered 287 jokes and once witnessed a solar eclipse!"
